May 2. 1751. NUMB. 1168.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the London Magazine for December, 1750.

A celebrated Piece has been lately publiſhed, intituled, The Oeconomy of Human Life; ſaid to be tranſlated from an Indian Manuſcript, written by an antient Bramin: To which is prefixed, an Account of the Manner in which the ſaid Manuſcript was diſcover'd; in a Letter from an Engliſh Gentleman, now reſiding in China, to the Earl of----Fame, which does not always ſpeak Truth, has aſcribed this Tract to the E---of Ch-----d; but however that be, it is written very much in the ſublime Eaſtern Strain of the Book of Job, the Pſalms, the Prophets, and the Works of Solomon; tho' nothing can be ſuppoſed to come up to theſe divine Originals. We ſhall ſelect a few Articles, by which our Readers may judge of the reſt; but cannot omit the Introduction, which is a grand and ſolemn Addreſs to the Human Race in general, as follows.

BOW down your heads unto the duſt, O ye inhabitants of earth! be ſilent, and receive, with reverence, inſtruction from on high.

Whereſoever the ſun doth ſhine, whereſoever the wind doth blow, whereſoever there is an ear to hear, and a mind to conceive; there let the precepts of life be made known, let the maxims of truth be honour'd and obey'd.

All things proceed from God; his power is unbounded, his wiſdom is from eternity, and his goodneſs endureth for ever.

He toucheth the ſtars with his finger, and they run their courſe rejoicing.

On the wings of the wind he walketh abroad, and performeth his will thro' all the regions of unbounded ſpace.

The ſhadow of knowledge paſſeth over the mind of man as a dream; he ſeeth as in the dark; he reaſoneth, and is deceived.

But the wiſdom of God is as the light of heaven; he reaſoneth not; his mind is the fountain of truth.

Who is like unto the Lord in glory? Who in power ſhall contend with the Almighty? Hath he any equal in wiſdom? Can any in goodneſs be compared to him?

He it is, O man, who hath created thee; thy ſtation on earth is fixed by his appointment; the powers of thy mind are the gifts of his goodneſs, the wonders of thy frame are the work of his hand.

Hear then his voice, for it is gracious; and he that obeyeth ſhall eſtabliſh his ſoul in peace.

Contemplate thy powers, contemplate thy wants and thy connections; ſo ſhalt thou diſcover the duties of life, and be directed in all thy ways.

Proceed not to ſpeak or to act, before thou haſt weighed thy words, and examined the tendency of every ſtep thou ſhalt take; ſo ſhall diſgrace fly far from thee, and in thy houſe ſhall ſhame be a ſtranger; repentance ſhall not viſit thee, nor ſorrow dwell upon thy cheek.

The thoughtleſs man bridleth not his tongue; he ſpeaketh at random, and is entangled with the fooliſhneſs of his own words.

As one that runneth in haſte, and leapeth over a fence, may fall into a pit on the other ſide, which he doth not ſee; ſo is the man that plungeth ſuddenly into any action, before he hath conſidered the conſequences thereof.

Hearken therefore unto the voice of conſideration; her words are the words of wiſdom, and her paths ſhall lead thee to ſafety and truth.

Application] Since the days that are paſt are gone for ever, and thoſe that are to come, may not come to thee; it behoveth thee, O man, to employ the preſent time, without regreting the loſs of that which is paſt, or too much depending on that which is to come.

This inſtant is thine, the next is in the womb of futurity, and thou knoweſt not what it may bring forth.

Whatſoever thou reſolveſt to do, do it quickly; defer not till the evening what the morning may accompliſh.

Idleneſs is the parent of want and of pain; but the labour of virtue bringeth forth pleaſure.

The hand of diligence defeateth want; proſperity and ſucceſs are the induſtrious man's attendants.

Who is he that hath acquired wealth, that hath riſen to power, that hath cloathed himſelf with honour, that is ſpoken of in the city with praiſe, and that ſtandeth before the King in counſel? Even he that hath ſhut out idleneſs from his houſe; and hath ſaid, Sloth, thou art mine enemy.

He riſeth up early, and lieth down late; he exerciſeth his mind with contemplation, and his body with action, and preſerveth the health of both.

The ſlothful man is a burthen to himſelf, his hours hang heavy on his hand; he loitereth about, and knoweth not what he would do.

His days paſs away like the ſhadow of a cloud, and he leaveth behind him no mark for remembrance.

His body is diſeaſed for want of exerciſe; he wiſhes for action, but hath not power to move; his mind is in darkneſs, his thoughts are confuſed; he longeth for knowledge, but hath no application. He would eat of the almond, but hateth the trouble of breaking its ſhell.

His houſe is in diſorder, his ſervants are waſteful and riotous, and he runneth on towards ruin; he ſeeth it with his eyes, he heareth it with his ears, he ſhaketh his head, and wiſheth, but hath no reſolution; till ruin come upon him like a whirlwind, and ſhame and repentance deſcend with him to the grave.

Contentment.] Forget not, O man, that thy ſtation on earth is appointed by the wiſdom of the Eternal; who knoweth thy heart, who ſeeth the vanity of all thy wiſhes, and who often in mercy denieth thy requeſts.

Yet for all reaſonable deſires, for all honeſt endeavours, his benevolence hath eſtabliſhed in the nature of things, a probability of ſucceſs.

The uneaſineſs thou feeleſt, the misfortunes thou bewaileſt, behold the root from whence they ſpring, even thine own folly, thine own pride, thine own diſtempered fancy.

Murmur not therefore at the diſpenſation of God, but correct thine own heart: neither ſay within thyſelf, if I had wealth, or power, or leiſure, I ſhould be happy; for know, they all of them bring to their ſeveral poſſeſſors, their peculiar inconveniences.

The poor man ſeeth not the vexations and anxieties of the rich, he feeleth not the difficulties and perplexities of power, neither knoweth he the weariſomneſs of leiſure; and therefore it is that he repineth at his own lot.

But envy not the appearance of happineſs in any man, for thou knoweſt not his ſecret griefs.

To be ſatisfied with a little is the greateſt wiſdom; and he that encreaſeth his riches encreaſeth his cares: But a contented mind is a hidden treaſure, and trouble findeth it not.

Yet if thou ſuffereſt not the allurements of fortune to rob thee of juſtice, or temperance, or charity, or modeſty, even riches themſelves ſhall not make thee unhappy.

But hence ſhalt thou learn, that the cup of felicity, pure and unmixed, is by no means a draught for mortal man.

Virtue is the race which God hath ſet him to run, and happineſs the goal; which none can arrive at till he hath finiſhed his courſe, and receiveth his crown in the manſions of eternity.

Temperance.] The neareſt approach thou canſt make to happineſs on this ſide the grave, is to enjoy from heaven underſtanding, and health.

Theſe bleſſings if thou poſſeſſeſt, and wouldſt preſerve to old age; avoid the allurements of voluptuouſneſs, and fly from her temptations.

When ſhe ſpreadeth her delicacies on the board, when her wine ſparkleth in the cup, when ſhe ſmileth upon thee, and perſuadeth thee to be joyful and happy; then is the hour of danger, and let reaſon ſtand firmly on her guard:

For if thou hearkeneſt unto the words of her adverſary, thou art deceived and betrayed.

The joy which ſhe promiſeth changeth to madneſs, and her enjoyments lead on to diſeaſes and death.

Look round her board, caſt thine eyes upon her gueſts; and obſerve thoſe who have been allured by her ſmiles, who have liſtened to her temptations:

Are they not meagre? Are they not ſickly? Are they not ſpiritleſs?

Their ſhort hours of jollity and riot are followed by tedious days of pain and dejection; ſhe hath debauched and palled their appetites, that they have no reliſh for their niceſt dainties: Her votaries have become her victims; the juſt and natural conſequence which God hath ordained in the conſtitution of things, for the puniſhment of thoſe who abuſe his gifts.

But who is ſhe that with graceful ſteps, and with a lively air, trips over yonder plain?

The roſe bluſheth on her cheeks, the ſweetneſs of the morning breatheth from her lips; joy, tempered with innocence and modeſty, ſparkleth in her eyes, and from the chearfulneſs of her heart ſhe ſingeth as ſhe walks.

Her name is health; ſhe is the daughter of exerciſe, who begot her on temperance; their ſons inhabit the mountains that ſtretch over the northern regions of San Ton Hoe.

They are brave, active, and lively; and partake of all the beauties, and virtues of their ſiſter.

Their pleaſures are moderate, and therefore they endure; their repoſe is ſhort, but ſound and undiſturbed.

Behold them expoſed to new dangers from without, while a traytor within lurketh to betray them.

She ſtandeth in her bower, ſhe courteth their regard, ſhe ſpreadeth her temptations.

Her limbs are ſoft and delicate, her attire is looſe and inviting; wantonneſs ſpeaketh in her eyes, and on her boſom ſits temptation: She beckoneth them with her finger, ſhe wooeth them with her looks, and by the ſmoothneſs of her tongue ſhe endeavoureth to deceive.

Ah! fly from her allurements, ſtop thy ears to her enchanting words: If thou meeteſt the languiſhing of her eyes, if thou heareſt the ſoftneſs of her voice, if ſhe caſteth her arms about thee, ſhe bindeth thee in chains for ever.

Shame followeth, and diſeaſe, and want, and care, and repentance.

whitened by dalliance, with luxury pamper'd, and ſoftened by ſloth, ſtrength ſhall forſake thy limbs, and health thy conſtitution; Thy days ſhall be few, and thoſe inglorious; thy griefs ſhall be many, yet meet with no compaſſion.

Hope and Fear.] The promiſes of hope are ſweeter than roſes in the bud, and far more flattering to expectation: But the threatnings of fear is a terror to the heart.

Nevertheleſs, let not hope allure, nor fear deter thee from doing that which is right; ſo ſhalt thou be prepared to meet all events with an equal mind.

The terrors even of death are no terrors to the good: He that committeth no evil hath nothing to fear.

In all thy undertakings let a reaſonable aſſurance animate thy endeavours; if thou deſpaireſt of ſucceſs, thou ſhalt not ſucceed.

Terrify not thy ſoul with vain fears, neither let thy heart ſink within thee from the phantoms of imagination.

From fear proceedeth misfortune; but he that hopeth helpeth himſelf.

As the oſtrich when purſued, hideth his head, but forgetteth his body; ſo the fears of a coward expoſe him to danger.

If thou believeſt a thing impoſſible, thy deſpondency ſhall make it ſo; but he that perſevereth ſhall overcome all difficulties.

A vain hope flattereth the heart of a fool; but he that is wiſe purſueth it not.

In all thy deſires let reaſon go along with thee, and fix not thy hopes beyond the bounds of probability: So ſhall ſucceſs attend thy undertakings, thy heart ſhall not be vexed with diſappointments.

Sincerity.] O thou who art enamoured with the beauties of truth, and haſt fixed thy heart on the ſimplicity of her charms; hold faſt thy fidelity unto her, and forſake her not; the conſtancy of thy virtue ſhall crown thee with honour.

The tongue of the ſincere is rooted in his heart: hypocriſy and deceit have no place in his words.

He bluſheth at falſhood, and is confounded; but in ſpeaking the truth he hath a ſteady eye.

He ſupporteth as a man the dignity of his character; to the arts of hypocriſy he ſcorneth to ſtoop.

He is conſiſtent with himſelf, he is never embarraſſed: He hath courage enough for truth, but to lye he is afraid.

He is far above the meanneſs of diſſimulation; the words of his mouth are the thoughts of his heart:

He adviſeth with friendſhip; he reproveth with freedom; and whatſoever he promiſeth ſhall ſurely be performed.

But the heart of the hypocrite is hid in his breaſt; he maſketh his words in the ſemblance of truth, while the buſineſs of his life is only to deceive.

He laugheth in ſorrow, he weepeth in joy; and the words of his mouth have no interpretation.

He worketh in the dark as a mole, and fancieth he is ſafe; but he blundereth into light, and is betrayed and expoſed with his dirt on his head.

He paſſeth his days in perpetual conſtraint; his tongue and his heart are for ever at variance.

He laboureth for the character of a righteous man: and huggeth himſelf in the thoughts of his cunning.

O fool, fool! the pains which thou takeſt to hide what thou art, are more than would make thee what thou wouldſt ſeem: And the children of wiſdom ſhall mock at thy cunning; when, in the midſt of ſecurity, thy diſguiſe is ſtripped off, and the finger of deriſion ſhall point thee to ſcorn.

Paris, A-la-main, Jan. 11. We hear from Liſbon, that the King of Portugal has formed a Deſign to aboliſh the Tribunal of the Inquiſition in his Dominions, in which Undertaking every Frenchman, and we hope every true Chriſtian, in all Nations, heartily wiſhes him Succeſs.

There is no Reaſon to be ſurprized that Marſhal Saxe was able to expend ſuch vaſt Sums as he did at Chamboard, when it is known that he drew more than twenty Millions out of Flanders. Chamboard was a Sort of ſeparate Monarchy; every Thing there was ſubject to the Marſhal, and in ſuch Degree as never had been known in France: Pleaſures were carried to the higheſt Pitch: The Troops which where there, obſerved the moſt exact Diſcipline, and good Order eminently prevailed; but Continence was a ſtranger to that Abode. The Ambition of this great Man even ſurpaſſed his Expences. His Projects, we are aſſured, being amazingly great; he was importunate to obtain the Dutchy of Courland, in order to procure his being made Czar of Muſcovy; which Title and Power he wanted, that he might have deſtroyed the Ottoman Empire, and had his Monument erected in St. Sophia in Conſtantinople. Theſe Deſigns were known to ſome few before his Death; but ſince then, have been more generally talked of. The Death of Count Saxe is thought to be an Event which will greatly contribute to eſtabliſh the Tranquility of the North, ſeeing his Pretenſions to Courland would, in all Probability, ſooner or later, have cauſed Troubles there.

To be ſold at James's Coffee-Houſe, by way of publick vendue, ſundry lots and parcels of land, in or near the city of Philadelphia, belonging to the eſtate of Abraham Claypoole deceaſed, viz.

ON Monday, the twentieth day of May next, the ſale to begin at three a clock in the afternoon:

1. A piece of land, containing fourteen acres and twenty nine Perches, lying between Paſſyunk road and Joſeph Wharton's Land, to be divided and ſold in three lots.

2. A piece of ground at Wicacoa, containing five acres and thirty Perches; bounded to the weſtward with Front-ſtreet continued, to the ſouthward with the widow Johnſon's land, to the eaſtward by the river Delaware, and to the northward by land late of John Cadwalader deceaſed.

3. A piece of land on the Lower-ferry Road, oppoſite to the houſe and land late of John Kinſey Eſq; deceaſed, containing thirty three acres, and one hundred thirty ſix Perches; to be divided and ſold in three lots or parcels, of about eleven acres each.

N. B. The ſeveral draughts, with the diviſions propoſed, may be ſeen at the houſe of John Swift, and at the place of ſale.

4. A lot of ground, on the eaſt ſide of Second-ſtreet, adjoining to Philip Halbert's ground, now in the tenure of Hannah Lloyd, containing 71 foot 4 inches in breadth, and 108 foot deep; to be divided and ſold in four lots, of 17 foot 10 inches broad each, the ſouthermoſt being the corner of Union-ſtreet.

5. A lot on the weſt-ſide of Front-ſtreet, on Society-hill, between the grounds of William Plumſted, Eſq; and Samuel Wharrell, containing in breadth 53 foot 4 inches, and in depth 198 foot; to be divided and ſold in three lots, of 17 foot 9 inches broad each.

ANDREW LAMB,

Is removed to Front-ſtreet, the corner of Cheſtnut-ſtreet, up the Alley, between Mr. Richardſon, Silver-ſmith, and Mr. Johnſon's ſhop, Tallow Chandler, and continues to qualify youth for buſineſs, &c. viz.

WRiting, arithmetick, vulgar and decimal, merchants accounts, the Italian method, by double entry, Dr. and Cr. the only true way that is now uſed; Navigation in all its parts, both theory and practice, viz. Geometry, Trigonometry, Plain-ſailing; Traverſe, Mercator, and Parallel Sailing; Coaſting, Bearing and Diſtance of Land, and Current Sailing. All theſe are geometrically, logorithmically and inſtrumentally performed. Not the practice, which is the main thing intended; and here I give you a complete journal from the Lizard to the Rock of Lisbon, with lee-way and variation allowed each courſe, and rules to find them, and an amplitude at ſun riſing or ſetting, and applied to the eaſt and weſt variation; this is one of the journals that I keep, and is therefore recommended to all ingenious artiſts, as a pattern for any other voyage; and I can ſhew ſeveral journals of my own works to the American plantations, and one from England to Cape Henlopen, in 28 days, 1748. And to make mercator charts, by a new and eaſy method, and to work any journal in them; which makes a traverſe in the mercator charts, and is proved ſo exact by the proportions in mercators ſailing, by the latitudes and longitudes every day at noon; and ſheweth the plain tract which the ſhip made the whole voyage, and a true method to correct all journals, and bring the ſhip ſafely to the deſired port, which is the only thing intended by a good journal. Alſo Surveying, Gauging, Dialling, Spherical Geometry, Trigonometry in all the various caſes, the Great Circle-Sailing, applied in ſeveral problems, which proves the meridional parts in mercators ſailing to a fair demonſtration; and the application of all in the moſt uſeful and neceſſary problems of great variety of aſtronomy. All theſe are carefully taught and diligently attended, by ANDREW LAMB.

N. B. I teach in their own houſes at certain hours, when deſired, with due attendance and diligence. I have above 30 years experience in teaching both the theory and practice of navigation.

Sailors, take a friend's advice, be not cheated by land-men, that pretend to navigation; for they know nothing of a ſea-journal, which is the principal thing you want to know, and the uſe of the charts: My ſcholars are qualified to go mates the firſt voyage, and bring me a good account of their journals. T. b. c. 6 m.

TO be ſold by JOHN HUGHES, of Philadelphia, Baker, the following tracts of land, lying on Coneſtogoe Creek, near Branſon's forges, in Lancaſter county, viz.

One tract of 300 acres, with a log-houſe, and ſome clear'd land on it, and a conveniency of making between 60 and 70 acres of good meadowing, and watering the whole eaſily.

Another tract of 280 acres, with ſome clear'd land on it, and a conveniency of making between 50 and 60 acres of good meadowing, and alſo a conveniency for erecting a mill.

And another tract of 150 acres of woodland, having the ſaid creek running through a part of it. The whole being contiguous to each other, exceeding good land, and well timber'd, having good ſprings all on it, will be ſold together, or apart, as beſt ſuits the purchaſer, on paying a part of the money, ſome years will be allow'd to pay the reſt annually, without intereſt. ¶ 6 W.

Extract of a Letter from Edinburgh, dated Dec. 20.

JOHN YOUNG, late Serjeant in Lord Ancram's Regiment of Foot, was executed here Yeſterday Afternoon, purſuant to the Sentence of the High Court of Juſticiary, pronounced againſt him, on a Remit made to that Court by the Lords of Seſſion; before whom a full Proof was deduced of Young's having vended falſe Notes of the Royal Bank of Scotland, knowing them to be ſo forged and fabricated.

This unhappy Man had amuſed himſelf, before Trial, with the Hopes of being acquitted; after Sentence, with thoſe of obtaining a Pardon; for which great Intereſt was uſed by the Officers of the Army, &c. though all to no Purpoſe; the Hurt done to publick Credit by ſuch deſtructive Practices rendering it neceſſary that an Example ſhould be made to deter others from committing the like in Time coming. Indeed this unfortunate Man complained bitterly of his hard Fate, in being made the only Sacrifice to Juſtice, while two others, rather more culpable than he, (they being the very Engravers and Fabricators of the Notes) found Means to ſave themſelves by turning Evidences againſt him, who did not ſcruple to accuſe him of Perjury, though with what Truth I cannot determine.

Young, however, at the Day, nay, at the very Time of Execution, betook himſelf to a very unuſual Expedient to ſave his Life for a Time, ſeeing then all his Hopes of Pardon entirely baffled: The Magiſtrates appointed to witneſs the Ceremony having aſſembled about two o' Clock, at the Priſon Door, with the proper Officers, the Guard, and an infinite Multitude of Spectators; they, attended by two Clergymen, went up to the Priſoner, and having read over to him the Sentence, they aſked his Objections to the executing the ſame. Young anſwer'd, that he had none: But obſerving the Sentence appointed the Execution to be performed betwixt the Hours of Two and Four in the Afternoon, that ſuggeſted a Thought to him, that if he could preſerve his Life till paſt Four, the Magiſtrates could not afterwards execute him. Accordingly he deſired Leave to retire a ſhort Time with two reverend Miniſters, for ghoſtly Conſolation; which being granted, he return'd with them to the Iron Room, where he had been confin'd ſince under Sentence; and after talking a little with them, he begg'd they would allow him to ſpend a few Minutes in private Devotion, which ſeeming reaſonable, they withdrew, and he uſher'd the Clergymen to the outer Door of his Apartment, which ſhutting behind them, he retired to the inner Room, the Iron Door of which he alſo immediately bolted.

Soon after the Officers of Juſtice, ſurprized at his Delay, endeavoured to open the Door, which, to their great Surprize, they found bolted: Then they knock'd, and deſired him to come out. No, ſaid he, in this Place I am reſolved to defend my Life to the utmoſt of my Power.

On this the Door was attempted to be forced, but it, as is ſaid, being of Iron, in vain were the moſt violent Endeavours uſed for that Purpoſe. This extraordinary Accident was immediately rumour'd about. My Lord Provoſt was ſent for, and accordingly appeared in Perſon. The City Clock was ſtopp'd, and Surprize and Expectation appeared in every Face. A conſiderable Time being ſpent to no Purpoſe in forcing the Door, that Attempt was given over, and the only poſſible Method of getting in was found to be by breaking up the Floor of the Room over Head of the Priſoner, which at length was, in about two Hours, effectuated; and a Paſſage being opened, a Gun was preſented to him, the Priſoner, in order to terrify him, and compel him to open the Door; but this did not frighten him in the leaſt; for he ſaid, that as he liv'd, ſo he deſired to die, like a Soldier. The Fellow, however, who held the Gun, being a little remiſs, Young making a Leap up, laid hold of the Muzzle, and pulled it down, threatening, on getting Poſſeſſion of the Piece, to ſhoot the firſt Man that dar'd to enter; but happily the Gun was unloaded, which prevented ſo fatal a Cataſtrophe. Rewards were then offered to ſuch of the City Guard as would go down and ſeize him; and at length, after ſeverals refuſing, one Fellow had the Courage to go down, whom Young welcom'd with a violent Blow on the Breaſt from the Butt of his Gun, that laid the Soldier on the Ground. Had Young been arm'd with a Sword or Bayonet, it is likely the Fate of the firſt Adventurer would have ſtopp'd the Attempts of a ſecond; but he having only an empty Muſket, and the Paſſage being wide, three or four more jump'd in at once, and at length after a violent Struggle, overpowered and bound the unhappy Victim, who ſtill refuſing to walk, the Door was opened, and he dragged headlong down Stairs, in a moſt deplorable Condition. When he was brought out, he aſk'd if it was Four o'Clock (as indeed it then was) but being anſwered, That he ſhould be hanged were it paſt Eight, he immediately compoſed himſelf to ſuffer that ſo much dreaded Death. Still however, did he refuſe being acceſſary to his own Murder (as he was pleaſed to term it) by walking, as uſual, to the Place of Execution: He was therefore forced upon a Cart, where the Hangman, ſitting by him, holding the End of the Rope, which was immediately put about his Neck, he was in this Manner dragged to the Graſs Market, amidſt thouſands of amaz'd Spectators; where again refuſing to aſcend the Scaffold, he was carried up by the Guard, and after about fifteen Minutes, being near Half an Hour paſt Four, and almoſt dark, he was hang'd by the Neck till he was dead.

This poor Man ſerved in the Army many Years, with Reputation; was beloved by his Officers, being never before convicted of the leaſt Offence, and was ſaid to have been recommended to the firſt vacant Colours in his Corps.

The extraordinay Manner of his Exit, the ſtrenuous Efforts to preſerve his Life, and the unhappy Succeſs that attended them, made him an Object truly worthy of Compaſſion.

He was a middle aged Man, very tall, and remarkably well-look'd."

Paris, Jan. 4 Two Notaries and a Commiſſary are gone by Orders of the Court to Chambord, to break open the Seals which were put upon the Effects of Count Saxe, and to examine the Papers. The Body of that General will be carried into Saxony, and will be accompanied by a Party of his Regiment of Uhlans, to whom the King has given Leave to take two Pieces of Cannon along with them, which they are to diſcharge where they ſtay to dine, where they lodge, and at their ſetting out in the Morning.

Rome, Dec. 12. The Inundation cauſed by the overflowing of the Tyber, was ſo great, that there has not been the like for an Age. The Water roſe to the ſecond Story of ſeveral Houſes, which occaſioned a vaſt Conſternation. The Pope being affected with the Misfortune of the Inhabitants, ordered Proviſions to be carried to the Poor, and others who were thereby confined to their Houſes. The Waters continued very high 4 ſucceſſive Days.

Gibraltar, Dec. 9. Capt. Barrington, in the Sea Horſe Man of War, who ſailed from hence on the 7th inſt. in the Morning for Tetuan Bay, in Order to bring over the Britiſh Slaves, is returned hither this Morning, and has brought with him Mr. Latton and 27 Captives: and Mr. Pettigrew is preparing to ſet out for Fez, with a handſome Retinue, to have an Interview with the Emperor of Morocco, in order to procure the Renewal of all former Treaties, and to receive the Britiſh Captives who are ſtill at Fez.

Worceſter, Dec. 26. A Perſon now reſiding in London, lately purchaſed an Ox for 100 Guineas, and refuſed 150 l. for him the 11th of October laſt, he intending to expoſe it to publick View. The ſaid Ox is but ſeven Years old, and is ſeven Feet high perpendicular, and to reach over the higheſt Part is 23 Hands, ſeven Yards long, five Yards round his Body, and a Yard and two Inches round the Shin Bone, and when firſt bought out-weighed 400 Stone. He is the more remarkable for being a Twin, was never calved, nor never ſucked, was taken from a Cow that coſt but 2l. 15s. and was bred by Mr. Henry Whiting, a Grazier, of Albrighton, in Shropſhire.

London, Dec. 29. Thurſday was held a grand Council at St. James's, at which his Majeſty was preſent, when his Majeſty declared ſeveral Places vacant of great Truſt and Importance, which will be filled, it is ſaid, on Thurſday next.

We hear that his Royal Highneſs Prince George will ſoon be created Duke of Glouceſter, Prince Edward, Duke of Lancaſter, and Prince William Henry, Duke of Wiltſhire.

Some Time laſt Week a Diſpute aroſe between two Gentlemen of Malden in Eſſex, about the Size of a Waiſtcoat that belonged to the late Mr. Edward Bright of that Town, ſo much talked of for his extraordinary Bulk; the one affirming that he could button five Men of the Age of Twenty-one, then reſident there, within it, without breaking a Stitch, or ſtraining a Button; the other poſitively denied it; a Wager enſued, which was determined in favour of the Affirmant, when not only five, but ſeven Men, were with the greateſt Eaſe included; and 'tis remarkable, this Waiſtcoat was ſent to the Taylor's to be let out, being too little for him, but his Death put a Stop to the deſigned Alteration.

They write from Sunderland, that on the 19th Inſt. about Nine at Night, they had a violent Storm, which laſted 'till Eight the next Night, in which 17 Keels are drove aſhore in Pieces; and it is greatly feared that above 100 Trimmers, Keelmen, &c. have periſhed.

An Affair of rough Gallantry makes at preſent a great Noiſe at Paris. A rich Tradeſman of that City having a Country Houſe at Charenton, made his Addreſſes to a young Lady, who had alſo a little Houſe there, and a pretty good Fortune, but had the ill Luck to be indifferently received. It ſo fell out, that this diſguſted Lover carried three of his Friends out of Town to dine with him, and after Dinner gave them the Hiſtory of his Misfortune. To get the better of it they ply'd their Burgundy briſkly 'till towards Midnight, when a Fancy took the amorous Tradeſman to go and preſs his Suit once more to the Lady, in Company with his Friends. In vain the Servants told them their Miſtreſs was gone to Bed, and they could not open the Doors. The four Heroes quickly overcame that Obſtacle, by throwing them off the Hinges, and being able to make no Impreſſion by their Eloquence, beſtowed ſeveral Blows upon the young Gentlewoman, her Maid, and Man Servant; which occaſioning a great Uproar, the Neighbours came out and beat them ſeverely in their Turns.

By Letters from Eſſex we hear, that the Hundreds, and ſome other Parts for ſeveral Miles together, are laid ſo much under Water, that it appears like a large River.

Hackney Marſh, from almoſt the Marſh Gate to Ruckholt Houſe, is alſo under Water.

The Sheriff of Middleſex is ordered to attend in New Palace Yard, Weſtminſter, To morrow, to ſee the treaſonable Libel burnt by the common Hangman.

As to our Foreign Affairs, little material can be ſaid of them in a Time of profound Peace, but as all the principal Powers in Europe are putting both their Marine and Land Forces, on the beſt Footing they can, it threatens at leaſt a Rupture ſomewhere. By Capt. Bryant, arrived at New-York from London, we have the following Advices.

Madrid, Feb. 11. At the ſeveral Ports of this Kingdom they continue to fit out Ships of War with all imaginable Expedition; and it is computed that his Majeſty will have 44 of the Line ready to put to Sea about the Middle of April.

Dublin, Jan. 29. We have Advice, that the Grace, from New-York, and another Ship from Philadelphia, having on board 1400 Barrels of Flaxſeed, are loſt on our Eaſtern Coaſt. [By Capt. Bryant there is Advice of the Peoples Lives being ſaved.]

We have Advice, that a Veſſel belonging to New-York, bound to Philadelphia, and who touch'd at Cork, was caſt away off Caſtle-town, in the Iſle of Man, the Cargoe and Crew all loſt. The Maſter left her before, and went in another Veſſel to Liverpool. She was a Tranſport from hence, with part of Colonel Laſcelles's Regiment on board for Nova-Scotia.

LONDON, February 16.

The 3d inſt. N. S. the Trial of the famous M. de la Bourdenaye was concluded, and being acquitted of every Accuſation brought againſt him, was diſcharged from the Baſtile, after a three Years Confinement; a poor Reward for the Service he did his Country.

Feb. 20. This Day was cloſed the Subſcription to the Free Britiſh Fiſhery, the Sum of which amounted to about 200,000 l. Six Buſſes for the enſuing Seaſon were order'd to be immediately built.

Feb. 21. The Lords of the Admiralty gave Orders for working double Tides in the Yards at Deptford, Woolwich and Chatham, to fit out 10 Men of War of the Line with all Expedition.---Order'd alſo the Cleanſing and Opening the ſeveral Docks, Guts and Drains, of all his Majeſty's Yards in the Kingdom.

Feb. 25. A Bill was brought into the Houſe of Lords for altering our Stile, and ſtrongly recommended by the noble Earl (Cheſterfield) who moved for it, and alſo by another Nobleman (Macclesfield) of well known Learning and Abilities. The Bill was order'd to be read a ſecond Time on Monday Se'enight, and to be printed.

March 2. Thurſday laſt, at a General Court of the South-ſea Company, a Motion was made to petition the Parliament for ſome Satisfaction to be made to the Company, in Conſideration of their great Demand on the Crown of Spain, which was ceded by his Majeſty, for the general Good of this Nation, by the Treaty lately concluded at Madrid.

And the previous Queſtion being put, if the ſaid Queſtion ſhould be then put, it paſſed in the Negative.

The Court has been acquainted from the Secretary of State, that his Majeſty has given for Anſwer to the Company's Addreſs preſented to him ſome Time ſince, That he had obtain'd from the King of Spain all that lay in his Power, ſo that no more could poſſibly be expected.

March 8. Two Men of War are order'd to be victuall'd forthwith, and are to be ſtation'd at Nova Scotia and Boſton.

WILLIAMSBURG, April 18.

Low Jackſon, from Nanſemond County (whoſe Ingenuity, has occaſioned ſo great a Diſturbance in this Colony) was brought before the General Court on Tueſday laſt, and indicted for forging and counterfeiting Spaniſh Double Doubleloons; and after a long Trial, his Jury brought him in Guilty.

John Hill, alias Seale, from Southampton County, for Horſe-ſtealing, was found Guilty. This is the fourth Time he has appeared before the General Court, and was once condemn'd, but afterwards received a Pardon; and is the ſame Fellow who got out of Norfolk Priſon ſome Time ago, robb'd a Store, and returned into Priſon again to prevent Suſpicion.

Joſeph Markam, from Northumberland, for ſtealing Tobacco, found Guilty; and John Boah, for a Miſdemeanor in receiving the ſaid Tobacco, was fin'd Forty Shillings, and ordered to be impriſon'd Six Months.

William Maniffee, from Spotſylvania, was indicted for Manſlaughter, but acquitted.

Thomas Alley from York, for Felony, acquitted.

ANNAPOLIS, May 1.

On Wedneſday laſt Jeremiah Swift was executed at Elk Ridge, purſuant to his Sentence, and afterwards hanged in Chains.

We formerly mentioned a Schooner from Virginia being left in St. Mary's County by two Men, who went Northward, Newton and Jones, who it was ſuſpected had murdered the Maſter and others: Since which the Body of Capt. Smith, and one other, has been found drove aſhore about four Miles from that Place, with both their Throats cut; and it is ſuppoſed they were murdered and thrown overboard by thoſe two Villains for the ſake of about 40 Piſtoles which Capt. Smith had with him.

The Man who lately in a fit of Lazineſs cut off his Hand in Baltimore County, to incapacitate him from Working, was lately found dead on the Road, near Saſquehannah; it having mortify'd, and he periſhed, for Nobody would give him any Relief.

Several Perſons have been taken up and committed to our Goal, on Suſpicion of being concerned in the Murder or concealing the Murder of Donald M'Kennie, for which Sullivan has already been executed.

Laſt Sunday two little Negroe Boys belonging to Mr. Creagh of this Place, got into a Boat at Yoakley's Hole, and went ſome Diſtance from the Shore, and in endeavouring to get back, were both drowned.

May 8. We have this Morning heard, that Capt. Adam Spencer, is arrived in Patuxent, in ſeven Weeks from London. A Paſſenger who came with him, informs us, that ſeveral other Ships for this Province left the Downs with Capt. Spencer, who are hourly expected.

BOSTON, May 2.

By Letters and Paſſengers by Capt. Fones, we are informed, that the Sum of 120,000 l. was granted by Parliament, for carrying on the Settlement of Nova-Scotia: That the Bills drawn by Governor Cornwallis were ordered to be paid: And, that Capt. John Winſlow was raiſing Recruits for the Garriſon of Annapolis-Royal.

We hear from the Eaſtward that two Men (Newton and Jones) ſuppos'd to have murder'd ſome Men in Maryland, were laſt Week apprehended at George's River, and ſecured in York Priſon. They came lately in a Veſſel from Philadelphia, and were diſcover'd by a Perſon who knew them. 'Tis ſaid one has confeſs'd the Fact.

NEW-YORK, May 13.

In the Boſton Papers, are two Articles one of which ſays, the Boundaries between the Engliſh and French in America, are amicably adjuſted by the Commiſſaries at Paris; and the other Article ſays that ſo many Blocks had been thrown in the Way, that very little Progreſs had been made in the Affair:---Which of theſe is true, Time muſt reveal.---It appears alſo, that a Bill is now before the Parliament, and like to paſs into a Law, to prevent the New-England Colonies emitting any more Paper Money.

Capt. Grigg who arrived here about 10 Days ago, from Turks-Iſland, informs us, That four Days before he arrived there, a Spaniſh Privateer, (or rather Pirate) had been there, and had taken and carried off two Engliſh Veſſels, one a Sloop, Capt. Dickenſon, from Bermuda, the other a North Carolina Man;---and that the People were in daily Expectation of another Viſit.

MR. DOVE, Engliſh profeſſor, at the Academy, has taken a commodious houſe, ſituated in a wholſome air, for the reception of young gentlemen at board, waſhing and lodging, on reaſonable terms.

The great advantages that children will receive from their living with a maſter, may eaſily appear from this conſideration; That they will be always under his inſpection, he will have a better opportunity of diſcovering their inclinations and humours, forming their manners, and correcting and improving their language and writing. Beſides which, care will be taken to inſtruct them in ſeveral books, by way of recreation, which are not taught in a publick ſchool.

ANDREW LAMB,

Is removed to Front-ſtreet, the corner of Cheſtnut-ſtreet, up [illegible] Alley, between Mr. Richardſon, Silver-ſmith, and Mr. Johnſon's ſhop, Tallow Chandler, and continues to qualify youth for buſineſs, &c. viz.

WRiting, arithmetick, vulgar and decimal, merchants accounts, the Italian method, by double entry, Dr. and Cr. the only true way that is now uſed; Navigation in all parts, both theory and practice, viz. Geometry, Trigonometry, Plain-ſailing; Traverſe, Mercator, and Parallel Sailing; Coaſting, Bearing and Diſtance of Land, and Current Sailing. All theſe geometrically, logorithmically and inſtrumentally performed. No the practice, which is the main thing intended; and here I give you a complete journal from the Lizard to the Rock of Lisbon with lee-way and variation allowed each courſe, and rules to them, and an amplitude at ſun riſing or ſetting, and applied to eaſt and weſt variation; this is one of the journals that I Lisbon, and is therefore recommended to all ingenious artiſts, pattern for any other voyage; and I can ſhew ſeveral journals of own works to the American plantations, and one from England Cape Henlopen, in 28 days, 1748. And to make mercator charts new and eaſy method, and to work any journal in them, makes a traverſe in the mercator charts, and is proved ſo exact the proportions in mercators ſailing, by the latitudes and longitudes every day at noon; and ſheweth the plain tract which the ſhip the whole voyage, and a true method to correct all journals, bring the ſhip ſafely to the deſired port, which is the only thing tended by a good journal. Alſo Surveying, Gauging, Dialling, Spherical Geometry, Trigonometry in all the various caſes, Great Circle-Sailing, applied in ſeveral problems, which prove meridional parts in mercators ſailing to a fair demonſtration, the application of all in the moſt uſeful and neceſſary problems, great variety of aſtronomy. All theſe are carefully taught diligently attended, by ANDREW LAMB.

N. B. I teach in their own houſes at certain hours, when deſired, with due attendance and diligence. I have above 30 experience in teaching both the theory and practice of navigation.

Sailors, take a friend's advice, be not cheated by land-men pretend to navigation; for they know nothing of a ſea-journal which is the principal thing you want to know, and the uſe of charts: My ſcholars are qualified to go mates the firſt voyage, bring me a good account of their journals.
